BARRACK ROOM BALLADS, by Rudyard Kipling. "O the oont, the oont! O the gawdforsaken oont!" "E's a devil an' a ostrich, an' a orphan child in one." Those who take any interest in camels and their ways should certainly read Rudyard Kipling's Ballads. "The Love Affairs of an Old Maid," by Lilian Bell. A charming book, original and in every way worthy of its brilliant author. "Better Dead," by J. M. Barrie, wherein a young man goes to London and finds that life is not made up entirely of Private Secretaryships. These and many others equally worth reading, published in cheap Colonial Editions, and on sale where all good literature is to be had, at Jacobsen's, 499 Florida, corner Lavalle.

Montevideo, June 1st.

The Siglo this morning surprised its readers by stating that General Villar would be a Candidate for the next Presidency.

La Nacion publishes a note condemning the revolutionary women who are going to business offices soliciting subscriptions for the rebels, as I related yesterday.

Treasury certificates forged by Cattaneo are still occasionally offered for sale.

Cablegrams announce Urugayan Consols as still rising in London market.

There is a rumour that Francisco Bauza will be appointed Minister to Brazil.

The congressional committee's report recommends the extension to 60 years of the Sauce port concession, on condition that the concessionaires double the projected works at that port.

Nineteen more soldiers of the batallon Presidente were disbanded yesterday to permit them to resume agricultural labor in Canelones.

There is much comment on, and a possibility of conflict between, Judicial and Executive Powers, apropros of Cabrera who was allowed out on a bail furnished by Dr. Palomeque when imprisoned for complicity in the bomb plot of a few weeks back. Cabrera joined the rebel forces and has been chief actor in the destruction of bridges by dynamite.

Colonel Urtubey has solicited a pardon from the President for having taken part in the revolution.

Luis Rios, brother of the officer killed alongside General Villar in Rivera, has sent in his resignation as Commissary of Police in Concordia. He had been accused of being the author of a denunciation, to the authorities of Salto, that the Argentine authorities had favoured the introduction of arms into Uruguay, and had otherwise fostered the revolution. His resignation is couched in energetic terms very compromising for Argentine neutrality.

The medical society will offer a banquet in the Uruguay Club, on June 10th, to Dr. Sanarelli, in honour of his discovery of the yellow fever microbe.

Before leaving Guayabas, in pursuit of the rebel army, General Villar was married by proxy, by power of attorney, sent to his friend M. Thevenet, Editor of La Prensa, of Salto. This action on his part indicated his intention to fight the rebels "á outrance."

The duel between Buxareo and Labandera, not Tulio Borda as I wired yesterday, has been peacefully arranged.

Government is about to purchase four small steamers whose cost will not exceed $15,000 each. One small one, not to cost over $4000, is destined for postal service, to carry mails on board steamers, another for the health board in the port, the remaining two will be added to Comandancia General de Marina.

The Chilian fleet, recently so much entertained at Rio Janeiro, entered the port to-day. It consists of seven vessels. The Comandancia de Marina informs that they will remain only the time necessary to take coal, and that there will be no repetition of the Rio fetes.

Return of Garibaldi

New York, 1st—A United States cruiser captured to-day off the coast of Florida the famous filibustering steamer Dauntless when it was about to leave for Cuba. It was the Dauntless that was to have conveyed the new expedition organised by the revolutionary committee in New York; and it is said that the authorities found on board a large quantity of military stores.

Athens, 1st—Her Majesty Queen Olga, and the Princess Sofia of Russia, consort of Prince Constantine, left here this afternoon for Agiamarina to be present at a fete to be held there in honour of the Crown Prince.

Canea, 1st—The Admirals of the squadrons have to-day addressed a collective note to the leaders of the Cretan insurgents informing them that the Sultan, bowing to the decision of the Great Powers, had agreed to withdraw the Turkish forces now on the island; and expressing the hope that the Cretans would abstain from hostilities, awaiting in a calm attitude the ultimate solution of the pending question of autonomy.

Lonpon, 1st—Mr. Curzon, sub-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, stated this evening in the House of Commons that the question of autonomy for Crete would be settled as soon as peace had been restored between Turkey and Greece, a consummation which in his opinion would be very shortly realized.

Montevideo, 1st—The Chilian squadron has arrived here, all well on board; and will leave again to-morrow for Valparaiso, when coal has been taken in. The squadron will probably touch at Sandy Point to permit the torpedo-boats to again coal. To-night Admiral Goñi and his officers are to be entertained at dinner by the Chilian Minister, and to-morrow President Borda will receive them.

Athens, 1st—King George yesterday resolved to honour General Riccotti Garibaldi with the Order of the Redeemer as a reward for his services in the Greek cause. General Garibaldi was yesterday advised of the king's decision. The former replied declining the honour. In his telegram the General states that he is profoundly grateful but does not deserve the honour, as he and his countrymen only did their duty in defending justice and civilization against the barbarous Mussulman.

London, 1st—The Foreign Office has since yesterday been in constant telegraphic communication with Sir A. Biliotti, British Consul General in Canea, and also with Rear Admiral Harris Commander of the British Fleet in those waters. The cause of this communication is the attack made yesterday by Turks against a number of unarmed Cretans while leaving the city of Canea. The Turks fired on them, very few escaping. The picket of European troops sent to the scene found twenty dead bodies which the Turks were preparing to mutilate. The Cretan insurgents made an attempt to attack the Turks, but were prevented from doing so by European troops. It is feared that this event will give rise to a massacre of Turks in the interior of the Island.

Madrid, 1st—The Queen Regent has appointed the Duke of Sotomayor to represent her at the Fetes of the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty Queen Victoria. His Grace will leave for London on the 17th inst.

New York, 1st—Heavy shocks of earthquake were again felt this morning in the North East of the United States. In many places, but chiefly in Maine, Pensylvania and Virginia, there are hundreds of houses with their walls cracked. Many families have taken refuge in the parks.

Vienna, 1st—Telegrams from Constantinople report that the Sultan has ordered the Commanders of Turkish troops in Thessaly and the Epirus to remain on the defensive. These field officers have denied the rumours referring to their troops having commenced an advance on Lamia and Thermopolis. The despatches received furthermore state that the Ambassadors of the Great Powers continue acting together and hope to conclude the negotiations for peace in a short time.

Vienna, 1st—The Austrian Deputies began to-day the Debate on the motion of the German Party for the deposition of the two Vice-Presidents for having violated the Constitution. The accused defended themselves energetically. It is difficult to say how the matter will end.

Rome, 1st—A groom in the Vatican stables named Rossi, who had been dismissed by the majordomo. Signor Martimicci, fired a revolver at him this morning and wounded him in the left arm. When several people rushed to seize him he fired into his own ear, and fell dangerously wounded, and was taken to hospital as a prisoner.

Brindisi, 1st—General Riciotti Garibaldi, with 350 volunteers from Greece arrived here to-day, and was cheered by the populace on landing.

Paris, 1st—Official advices from Tonkin say that the situation there continues to improve, the banditti in the North disappearing gradually.

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

(Received after Midnight.)

Turin, 1st—The King of Siam arrived here this afternoon and was received at the railway-station by the Prefect and the City authorities.

BRAZILO-CHILIAN FLIRTATION.

The deep sensation caused throughout Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and Chile by a political article from the pen of Dr. Ramirez, formerly Uruguayan Minister in Rio and at present editor of the Montevideo Razon, has assumed quite the proportions of an event. The cable has transmitted the article almost verbatim to the capital cities of the states just mentioned, opening the eyes of all to the true inwardness of the visit of the Chilian squadron to Rio and of the festivities organized on that occasion. It is not often that a political article, at least in South America, succeeds in rousing the ruling sections from that lethargic indifference into which the ease and egoism of government irresistibly drive them. It would be difficult, however, to determine whether the sensation caused by Dr. Ramirez's lucid exposition of Chilian intrigue and Brazilian sincerity be in reality a proof that the general interests of South American States are of greater moment than those of the men in power. Be that as it may, one thing is certain, and that is that a greater sensation has been caused than the discussion of a new loan or of the prospects of sugar protection, or any other matter of private interest, would have been likely to create.

Dr. Ramirez—and here we may point out that his authority on South American politics is well established—begins by calling attention to the visit and particularly the circumstances of the visit of the Argentine squadron two years ago to Rio. At that time great excitement prevailed. Certain high-handed proceedings of the Brazilian Government had roused the wrath of Italy, and an Italian squadron was on its way to Rio, bearing a royal commissioner, whose instructions were to impose certain humiliating conditions. Argentina at the moment might have had some reason to entertain a feeling of resentment towards Brazil, for she had lost a fine slice of territory through the adverse decision of the U. States President, the recognised arbitrator in the limit-dispute between the two countries. Furthermore, Argentina owes much of her prosperity and progress to the hundreds of thousands of Italian immigrants who have settled here. Nevertheless, the Argentine Government sent a powerful squadron to Rio to salute the Brazilian Flag. Dr. Ramirez points out, that although not a compromising word was uttered, still the Brazilians were led to understand that Argentina, however much she might injure her own interests, would never consent to any high-handed proceeding on the part of a European power. Hence the naval demonstration. The enthusiastic reception accorded to our officers is still fresh in the memory of all. The Government and the people joined in organizing festivities of a splendor unprecedented in South-American annals.

Turn we now to the reception given to the Chilian Squadron. The prime mover in carrying out a friendly demonstration was the Press. The Government at first refused to take part, on the ground that Congress was in recess and there was no money in the Treasury. Ultimately the President consented to give a ball in one of the Government buildings. In the meantime, the Chilians, on the shore of the Pacific, without waiting for a return-visit of a Brazilian squadron, and anxious to make Argentina believe in the existence of some "entente" with Brazil, began to organize public demonstrations in Valparaiso and Santiago. It is to be observed that these manifestations proved failures, that is the enthusiasm quickly subsided.

Dr. Ramirez proceeds to shew why this enthusiasm subsided. In Rio there is a military Club—a very powerful association, which conducted the revolution that upset the monarchy. The Club is so strong that no measure of importance can be taken without consulting it. It is significant that the Club refused to take part in the festivities organized for the reception of the Chilian Squadron. Why? Were the members of the Club enemies of Chile? No, since they sent a friendly message to the kindred institution in Chile. But they sent a still more friendly and more expressive message to Argentina. Furthermore, the Brazilian President, in his toast at the official banquet, warmly referred to the visit of the Argentine squadron, and one of the Cabinet Ministers said that Brazil was the friend, not of one, but of all. In reply the Chilian Minister stated that Chile was ready to defend Brazil against any enemy, a hint so significant that none could fail to understand its purport.

And thus Dr. Ramirez proves that Brazil will never consent to be Chile's ally, and that, consequently, all this Brazilophile ebullition on the other side of the Andes is bluff. There is no alliance between Chile and Brazil, nor is there any likelihood of any such "entente."

There are two circumstances which must not be overlooked in considering Dr. Ramirez's article. First, the current of opinion in South America was that Chile and Brazil had arrived at some understanding not quite to the advantage of Argentina; and secondly the position and standing of Dr. Ramirez. A denial of a Chilo-Brazilian "entente" by any unknown writer would have fallen very flat indeed, but a similar negation flowing from a recognized pen, like that which the ex-Minister to Rio wields, rouses all our South American Metternichs and causes an undulation on the usually calm surface of international politics.

An accident occurred yesterday in the hat-factory at Cangallo 2121, by which three operatives were scalded to death and four were injured. Ambulances were promptly on the spot sent by Dr. Susini of the Asistencia Publica, which is now doing excellent service on such melancholy occasions.

LONDON LETTER.

PRIMROSE LEAGUE.

DIAMOND JUBILEE MEETING.

LORD SALISBURY'S SPEECH.

(From our own Correspondent.

May 6th.

By reason of the solemnity of the occasion the grand annual meeting of the Habitations of the Primrose League was postponed until a later period and held in the Albert Hall instead of Covent Garden theatre. It is perhaps no exaggeration to say that more than ten thousand people rose to greet Lord Salisbury this afternoon when accompanied by his Secretaries he entered the Kensington coliseum. Lord Salisbury made a speech which had little to do with the Primrose League or even with the ordinary party questions which might interest vulgar politicians on either side. The present was the second public appearance of the noble marquis since he returned from the convalescent home on the shores of the Mediterranean. At the Royal Academy banquet the Prime Minister had to speak of Art, of which he knows nothing, and he jocose without souring the wine by too much cynicism, or by malignant political allusions. This he managed pretty well. His jokes did not mean anything in particular, even when they were intelligible, and a jeer at the newly installed Greek Ministers going to Pharsala to inspect the army, and a gibe at this 'free and little governed country' so different from those real monarchies of Europe, such as Russia, Germany, and Austria, with whom he had been hob-nobbing as Minister of Foreign Affairs, were all we could expect even from 'the master of gibes and jeers at a Royal Academy banquet. At the Albert Hall, Lord Salisbury was even in a less jeering humour. He seemed to feel the seriousness of his position, and that the time had arrived for a defence of his recent foreign policy, and for a confession of political faith. Accordingly, after pausing for a moment to lecture Mr. Gladstone upon the enormity of applying to His Majesty the Sultan of Turkey epithets which would not be tolerated by the Speaker in the House of Commons, he proceeded to enlighten the Dames and Knights of the Primrose League upon the sanctity of treaties. He alluded mainly to the treaty of Paris approved by the Liberals in 1856 and confirmed at Berlin by the Conservatives in 1878. His lordship impressed upon his hearers the practical benefit to British interests of adhering religiously to our public obligations, because immaculate as were the august sovereigns of Europe, if we did not respect treaties they would be equally lax in such matters. Moreover, Lord Salisbury referred gently to South Africa, as much as to say, if we allowed the Greeks to filibuster in Crete it would be a virtual recognition of the Jameson raid, and under those circumstances with what face could we pick a quarrel with President Kruger for not abiding by the London convention? In other words, how could we grab the gold of Johannesburgh in addition to the diamonds of Kimberley without as a nation upholding the sacredness of treaties. Remember it is upon treaties the integrity of the Ottoman Empire rests, and with it the peace of Europe? As to a confession of political faith, the Marquis expounded his ideas in a noble peroration. He said:—"The ascendancy—the peaceful ascendancy of England in the Councils of the world is a legitimate exercise of the power which has always been used, and always will be used in the future for the maintenance of freedom and right, and the civilisation and progress of mankind." (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

Lord Salisbury has been so long out of England he has forgotten that to many of us—"the ascendancy of England"—is a very objectionable phrase, and that he should have said "Britain," and that there are other Home Rulers besides the Cretans who will wonder where "freedom and right" come in. There are many who will ask if the maintenance of a detestable Government in Turkey in Europe, as well as grants in aid to landlords, are essential to "the progress of mankind?" As to the venerable treaty of 1856, upon which the maintenance of the Turkish Empire is supposed to depend, we know the value of it, as well as of the august federation of Europe, when the Fortnightly Review tells us the King of Greece has said that he might have had Crete long ago if he had consented to give Suda Bay to Russia; Lord Salisbury made his speech at an auspicious moment when he could persuade the Primrose dames that the final humiliation of Greece was his own triumph. The Tory papers evidently, like Lord Salisbury, look upon Turkish victories as their own. They may be mistaken. The peace of Europe is not absolutely essential to British interests. It may give the Turkish Empire a new lease of power and prestige which can be used against us in Egypt and the Soudan and also in Persia, should the present Shah die. Lord Salisbury's well-meaning efforts in the cause of peace and federation have failed at all points of the compass. In the United States they have ended in the final rejection of the Treaty of Arbitration. In Crete in war; in South Africa in the shipping of war material from London docks to the Cape to an extent that looks very like immediate war. If Lord Salisbury succeeds at any point at all it will be by the accident that France is dissatisfied with the visits between the three Emperors, and that her own experts tell her that for her to compete with the British Navy, superior not only in the number of the ships, but in the quality of them, is an impossibility. Hence there is a decided tendency in France to draw nearer to this country. I have not had time to read Lord Salisbury's speech attentively, as it was only published at a late hour this evening, but I think his best friends can only admire its plausibility. There is something ludicrous in lecturing hungry lions on treaties and deportment at table.

The prophet Moore has been interviewed by numbers of people owing to his success in prophesying the sad calamity in Paris. One interviewer had the assurance to ask him—"What have you got for next year?" The prophet replied "some staggerers". Part of the prophecies are already printed in proofs, and the interviewer, though not allowed to look, was permitted to touch and hold in his hand the papers big with the fate of nations. The prophet was unable to account for his guess about the fire in Paris. He vouchsaed that such things are not the results of calculation, but of presentiments which come unbidden and unconsciously to the prophetic mind.

The greatest joke of the season is the capture by the Greeks of Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, who was on his way from the Turkish camp at Larissa to Salonica and unfortunately sailed from the Greek coast in a Turkish schooner instead of going by rail. A Greek gunboat espied him, and its commander sent him to Athens in another ship of war with a message to pass him on to the Speaker of the House of Commons. Lord Salisbury, who is a terrible Turk in small matters, demands his immediate release. The Greek Government, however, decline, as they have discovered on "Silomo's" person, compromising despatches. This is what we are told to-night. To-morrow by the 'Galicia' I shall be able to give further particulars.

MEMS ON THE MEDITERRANEAN.

I.

The steamer Duchessa di Genova made the run from Montevideo to Las Palmas in 13¾ days, burning 60 tons of coal daily: she might have done it quicker if we had burnt more coal. The N. America of the same line burns 120 tons coal daily: the question of speed seems to be a mere question of coal for these splendid steamers.

It was a lovely evening on the 26th April when we entered the far famed Straits of Gibraltar, which are about 32 miles long from West to East and 13 miles wide: the narrowest part between Canales and Cires is but 7¾ miles. You can see the land on both sides, and the widest part is from the never to be forgotten Trafalgar to Cape Spartel, 24 miles. The Arabic name of Trafalgar is Taral-el-Ghar, and it was in the offing that Nelson sealed with his blood his country's supremacy at sea. On 21st Oct., 1805, a date never to be forgotten, he caught the French there, he commanded 27 ships of the line and 4 frigates. The French under Admiral Villeneuve, and Spaniards under Admiral Gravina, had 33 ships of the line and 7 frigates. Nelson was wounded at a quarter before 1, and died on board his beloved Victory at half past 4 p.m., aged 47. The Spanish commander died soon after: almost with his last breath he said "he was going to join Nelson, the greatest man the world ever produced." We passed right under the frowning fortress and signalled the flag staff on the rock above us, fully 1430 ft. above the sea level. We could distinctly see the sentries, the guns, the gardens, and the Governor's residence. The rock of Gibraltar was well known to the ancients, but was never inhabited. It was the European, and Abyla the African pillar of Hercules, the ne plus ultra of Phoenician mariners. It may interest some of your readers to be reminded how this matchless and impregnable fortress came into our possession. During the Spanish war of succession in 1704 Sir George Rooke by a sudden attack surprised and easily obtained possession of it. Its value then as the key of the Mediterranean was much appreciated. The Prince of Darmstadt who accompanied Rooke, desired to hoist the standard of Spain and proclaim King Charles, but Rooke, who was a plain, open-spoken sailor interposed, and would stand no nonsense, "Go to bl——s with your Spanish standard" he replied, and landing his men and scaling the rock, he hoisted the Union Jack of Old England, and took possession of the place in the name of the then Queen of England. Since that time, close on 200 years, notwithstanding repeated efforts made by Spain and France to take it, and a protracted siege which lasted four years, England has maintained this fortress at a lavish expenditure of gold. The garrison consists in time of peace of 5,000 men. From the square tower called "the little chair," there was a narrow path leading to Catalan Bay, which was destroyed some years ago to prevent surprises, as Gibraltar was once nearly taken by a party of Spaniards who crept up this pathway during the night. In former years the rock abounded in monkeys, but now-a-days they are scarce enough.

We could see from the steamer the summer pavilion of the Governor at the East point of the rock, nestling under beetling cliffs; below is a cave tunnelled by the waves, and beyond which it is impossible to pass, as the cliff rises like a wall straight up from the sea. This side is an entire contrast to the other; all here is solitude and inaccessibility, and nature has reared her own impregnable bastions. The modern improvements in fortification and artillery necessitate the constant outlay of money, and the construction of important works for the protection of the harbour and the fortress itself. The hill has been scarped in some places and additional casemates formed in the rock with monster guns planted on platforms. The South point of the rock is called O'Hara's Tower and close by is St. Michael's cave, to visit which a special permission must be obtained from the Governor; the entrance is 1000 feet above the sea, and many bones of extinct animals have been found in it. Here it was that Dr. Carey, an Irish garrison Doctor, translated Dante, the best English translation of the Divina Comedia extant. Strange to say, Gibraltar has never been a very healthy place, and some 60 or 70 years ago they had the yellow fever as bad if not worse than in Buenos Aires in 1871. Gibraltar has always been much in touch with Buenos Aires, and some of our most fortunate merchants hailed from the Rock. Don Francisco Oliviero, the millionaire cigar manufacturer, Don Ricardo O'Shee and many others, all were natives of Gibraltar, as also Sr. Gautier, whose printing office was the cradle of the STANDARD, and who sold it out in 1861 for $90,000 old paper money, to the same firm which figures in your columns M. G. and E.T.M. The printing press was the oldest in B. Aires and had printed for half a century before the "Gazette" and "British packet," it is now in Chubut, the Editors of the STANDARD having sold it in 1881 to Mr. Jones, the founder of that Colony.

I should have liked much to have landed at Gibraltar and seen something of the place. My brother and his wife landed there very many years ago and went across to Tangiers, but our steamer could not touch, and we pushed ahead full speed for Barcelona. The convent del Cuervo of Gibraltar is well known to tourists; it is the only one of the kind in Europe; it was founded by Carlos V, son of "Juana la loca" as a place of punishment for priests and monks convicted of heinous offences. The cork woods 7 miles out are also famous, and the remains of an old Carthagenian amphitheatre at Cartiga are also deserving of a visit. Gibraltar is celebrated for a terrible duel fought about a goose between 2 officers both of whom perished, and the goose also. The sun set in all its glory as we bid good bye to this matchless fortress, and I felt as I bid it good bye a certain feeling of pride, which only Britishers who have resided long in foreign countries can appreciate, and to others I shall leave it to say how much of the liberty of Europe is due to the fact that Gibraltar for the last 200 years has been a British fortress.

Yours,
Dr. Syntax.

THE QUEEN'S REIGN.

(BY M. G. MULHALL.)

XII.—FINANCES.

The public money is more wisely handled in Great Britain than in the other great European States, and the record of our finances since 1837 is on the whole most satisfactory. In the following table are shown the receipts of revenue in the last sixty years :—

Millions £

	Customs	Excise.	Taxes, &c.	Total
1837-50.....	322	217	248	787
1851-60.....	237	181	260	678
1861-70.....	238	204	278	720
1871-80.....	216	271	314	801
1881-90.....	198	262	423	883
1891-96.....	121	132	299	602
60 years....	1,332	1,317	1,832	4,481

In the early years of the reign, taxes on articles of consumption—that is, customs and excise—formed 70 per cent. of the revenue, but now they are only 50 cent., and in this way much benefit has resulted to the working-classes, on whom such taxes chiefly fall. If we compare taxes with population, the incidence, according to a report published by the Treasury in 1895, has been as follows :—

	Millions £		Shillings per Inhabitant
Year	G. Britain	Ireland	Great Britain	Ireland
1840.....	47,300,000	5,400,000	50	13
1860.....	61,400,000	7,700,000	53	26
1880.....	69,800,000	7,300,000	47	28
1890.....	84,900,000	7,960,000	51	33

The incidence of taxation per inhabitant in Great Britain is the same as at the beginning of the reign, but in Ireland it has more than doubled. In Great Britain each inhabitant pays now 1 shilling more, in Ireland 20 shillings more, than in 1840. This inequality has arisen simply from the fact that all fiscal legislation since 1840 has been on the assumption of an increasing population, whereas in Ireland the number of inhabitants has declined 45 per cent. The different conditions of the two countries were not taken into account, and thus it has come to pass, that Great Britain, with her world-wide commerce and colonial possessions, has grown enormously rich, while Ireland, with increased taxation, has no corresponding increase of wealth.

National expenditure since 1836 may be summed up thus :—

Millions £

	Government	Debt	Army & Navy	Total
1837-50.....	132	401	220	753
1851-60.....	136	285	288	709
1861-70.....	157	264	274	695
1871-80.....	212	276	282	770
1881-90.....	266	278	306	880
1891-96.....	287	151	208	596
Sixty years....	1,170	1,655	1,578	4,403

In the above table the item of Government includes a sum of 54 millions handed over to local authorities in aid of rates from 1888 to 1896, in the form of subsidy from excise, customs, and death-duties, all of which are, moreover, included under Revenue on page 61, because collected by officers of the Crown. In official Budgets these subsidies are not counted either in revenue or in expenditure.

At the beginning of the reign the annual cost of the army and navy was under 16 millions ; at present it reaches 40 millions, or 20 shillings per inhabitant. The military force of the United Kingdom on land has quadrupled in forty-five years, viz :—

	1850	1895
Army.....	139,000	220,000
Volunteers.....	—	225,000
Militia, &c.....	20,000	210,000
Total.....	159,000	655,000

This is irrespective of the Anglo-Indian army and the Royal Irish constabulary. The maintenance of our regular army costs 13 ½ millions yearly or £62 per man, against £44 in France and £41 in Germany, from which it would seem that our troops are better treated than those of Continental States. There is also an expenditure of 7 ½ millions a year for pensions and auxiliary forces ; making a total of 21 millions.

Although the navy is more powerful now than it was fifty years ago, the substitution of ironclads and heavy cannon for the vessels and artillery in use before the Crimean war has led to a sensible reduction in the numbers of both, the only increase being in the number of seamen, viz. :—

	1850	1895
Vessels.....	585	300
Guns.....	17,200	2,100
Men.....	48,000	89,000

At present there are 110 superior fighting ships carrying 2,910 guns, but the number carried by minor vessels is not stated. The armament includes 930 heavy guns, ranging from 12 to 111 tons, and 1,980 of calibre under 12 tons. The indicated horse-power shows 56 vessels over 10,000 horse power, with a nominal speed ranging from 17 to 22 knots an hour. Annual expenditure for the navy reaches 19 millions, of which 10 millions are for ships and armament, 6 millions for officers and men : the latter is an average of £67 per man, or £5 more than in the army.

National debt, except during the brief period of the Crimean War, has steadily declined during the present reign, comparing thus with population :—

	Amount £	Population	£ per Head
1837....	796,000,000	26,050,000	30·6
1860....	826,000,000	28,000,000	29·4
1896....	652,500,000	39,500,000	16·5

If the value of Suez Canal shares were deducted, the real debt would not exceed 627 millions, say £16 per inhabitant, or little more than half the ratio in 1837. And if we compare debt with national wealth the decline is still more notable, viz :—

Millions £

	Wealth	Debt	Debt Ratio
1837.....	4,100	796	19·4
1895.....	11,806	627	5·3

Thus the relative burthen is now only one-fourth of what it was at the Queen's accession. The annual service of the debt cost 22 shillings per inhabitant in 1837, and now only 12 ¼ shillings : at the former period it absorbed exactly half of the revenue, whereas now it takes less than one-fourth. Most of the nations of Continental Europe have doubled or trebled their debts in the interval.

IMPORTANT INVENTION.

SYSTEM FOR PRESERVING MEAT.

A party of well known gentlemen, including Mr. Buchannan, United States Minister, journeyed down on Friday last to Mr. Guerrero's well known estancia situated on the placid and picturesque banks of the Rio Salado and a short distance from the Southern Railway Station of the same name. The object of the pleasant trip was to inspect the machine invented by Mr. Guerrero for drying meat, fish, vegetables and even fruit. Mr. Guerrero's estancia is we may say a typical establishment in every way, and very different from the "criollo" estancia, which generally comprised a few leagues of camp and several thousands of native horses, cows and sheep: no trees around the house, no nicely laid out gardens in which all kinds of beautiful flowers bloom, such as in Mr. Guerrero's property, were to be seen. Mr. Guerrero's estancia is, as we said before, on the banks of the Salado, while gardens run right down to the water, on which are to be seen innumerable swans, ducks, and other fowl. The visitors, after a sumptuous breakfast, whiled away the greater part of the afternoon in shooting in spite of the steady rain, and then adjourned to have a look at the machine used for drying meat.

The drying machine or apparatus is a large oven, divided into three compartments, one above the other: the first one is for the fire, the second contains the hot air, and the third is the large receptacle in which portions of the carcases to be dried are placed. The second compartment is separated from the third by a sort of gridiron iron floor. The body of a slaughtered steer, or sheep is first submerged for seven hours in a solution which contains 25 % of salt. This process although simple enough can be suppressed. However, the carcase thus treated is then placed in the oven for 45 to 48 hours, it is then ready to be exported. Game, fruit and vegetables can be prepared for export in a similar way. Meat prepared by Mr. Guerrero's system is already known abroad, especially in Rio Janeiro. The process employed has the advantage of being most economical in every way. Bacon, and even alfalfa, can be dried in the same manner.

RAILWAY AND OTHER ITEMS.

STOPPAGE OF TRAFFIC TO CENTRAL STATION.

RETIRO AND CASA AMARILLA TERMINI.

WHEELWRIGHT, HOPKINS, CRABTREE AND STANT.

PROTEST OF THE ENSENADA RAILWAY CO.

Shades of Crabtree ! We invoked them yesterday morning as we watched the last of railway traffic to the old Central Station. Police Commissaries with an armed body of men were stationed at the Retiro and Casa Amarilla, red flags were hoisted, and all trains stopped. The Central Argentine Railway Co. bowed to the ukase with diplomatic courtesy ; not so the Ensenada Railway Co. which stopped traffic under protest.

Wheelwright and Hopkins and their hallowed memories pass before us as the navvies take up the rails in front of the city. Yet the salient feature of that railway past is Crabtree, so maligned, so persecuted, that he died, we may say, heart-broken. We, who helped Hopkins and Wheelwright, who defended Crabtree, we cannot help casting one long, lingering look behind as we see the rails vanish from the Paseo Julio and Paseo Colon.

In the early days' of the Northern Railway, long before the much lamented Central Station was designed by Engineer Stant, and when the tramway ran to the Retiro, it was not unusual to look upon a trip to the Tigre as a journey of incident and adventure. We helped with pick-axe to shove a locomotive along in the sixties and we remember employing four hours to get from Tigre to the Retiro. Crabtree managed the old concern for years, and no man in South America, from the days of the Revolucion de Mayo, was more bitterly abused in print than this unlucky railway manager. He had hosts of friends, everybody liked him, but the defects of his railway, the miserable permanent way, the wretched carriages, the asthmatic engines, the time-honored delays, roused the public against him and his railway. For years he stood the brunt of public vituperation—he often mounted the engine himself—but finally he broke down a martyr to his railway service, a victim of his Company.

We now go back to the old stage. Old stagers may feel rejuvenated as they jump down again at the Retiro "shebeen" or station, walk up the hill or take the tramway. We, for one, much though we object to the arbitrary ukase against the Companies, cannot conceal a certain satisfaction that the miserable old construction of engineer Stant has been burned down and the rails removed from the front of the city. At all events, the Retiro or the Casa Amarilla is better than the present terminus on the old, burned down site, exposed to sun, wind, and water, and dangerous into the bargain at night, owing to scant illumination.

Passengers from the Northern suburbs can always rely on a good tramway service from the Retiro, and whatever shortcomings may have been remarked yesterday, we have no doubt that the City of Buenos Aires Tramway Company will meet all requirements of the traffic in a few days. There was an outcry when the old Parque Station was removed there were also complaints when the Southern Railway abandoned the Central Station; and we need not wonder if to-day there is great discontent at the abolition of the wretched, old Central Station. But it is a case of habit more than anything else—and people will soon get accustomed to the Retiro, and the tram—a mere question of weeks.

Both the Northern and Ensenada Railways must now go to some expense in improving the Retiro and Casa Amarilla stations. Their present condition is disgraceful to both companies, and the public demand more accommodation and more comforts. Both companies may rest assured that the demands of the public will be backed up by official pressure, and better for them if they carry out with a good grace the improvements and extensions required by the change of termini.

The Retiro is a charming spot for a terminus; it is even picturesque, for there is a kind of bold contrast between the Gas Works, Pabellon Argentino, the flat expanse of water to the East, the noble slope to the West. Historic memories are also associated with the spot, since the seizure of this city by Beresford to the blowing up of the old barracks. Close to was the old slave-market in the early history of Buenos Ayres. The Central Argentine Railway Company can erect a splendid terminus to match the picturesque and historic surroundings. The same may be said of the old Casa Amarilla, with the soap suds of so many generations around it, the "barranca," etc., etc.

At Casa Amarilla the following document, embodying the protest of the Ensenada Railway, was drawn up and signed.

"In the Casa Amarilla Station, capital of the Republic, Engineer Schneidewind, inspector general of the National Railway Board, seeing that the Ensenada train No. 2, was about to follow on to Central Station, raised the red flag of danger, thus stopping the train, and stated that in accordance with the decree of the National Government, the train could not pass the Casa Amarilla. Don Santiago C. Marengo, manager of the Ensenada Railway, was present, and having been informed of the circumstances of the case, he said that he submitted under protest, but that he reiterated the claims put forward by the company and sustained in a petition to Congress for authority to carry the matter before the Tribunals.

The service having been suspended, this document was drawn up and signed.

June 1st, 1897.

Manuel Z. Lee, Police-Commissary ; A. Schneidewind, Inspector-Gen, N.R.B. ; Lisandro Gordillo, Inspector ; S. C. Marengo, Manager ; James Gibson, Traffic Sup. ; Carlos Canepa, Station-master.

Engineering, London, speaking of the export of English locomotives, this year says :—

"Our locomotive exports have shown a considerable increase this year, value of the engines exported in March having been £132,916, as compared with £76,508 in March, 1896, and £63,662 in March, 1895, while in the three months ending March 31, this year, they attained an aggregate of £383,260, as compared with £236,446 in the first quarter of 1896 and £198,480 in the first quarter of 1895. The progress indicated is accounted for by increased deliveries to South America, South Africa, British India and Australasia, Thus the value of the engines exported to South America to March 31, this year, was £69,457, as compared with $59,450 and £58,513 in the corresponding periods of 1896 and 1895, respectively ; to South Africa, £55,889, as compared with £26,859, and £3,297; to British India, £107,969, as compared with £47,457 and £39,159; and to Australia, £68,839, as compared with £28,986 and £6,574. Considering the growth of French, German and American competition the figures which we have just given must be regarded as gratifying."

CONGRESS.

SENATE.

The sitting opened yesterday afternoon at 3.20 under the presidency of General Roca, 18 Senators being in their seats.

The following was the principal business laid on the table :

Bill in revision from the lower House for granting pecuniary assistance to agriculturists in Santa Fé, Entre Rios and Cordoba.

Petition from the Electric Tramway Company of the Capital, asking for exoneration from duties for material imported for the line.

Petition from Messrs. Otto Bemberg and Co. for permission to sue the Executive.

Petition from Mr. J. M. Burgos for permission to run a line of steamers on the Rio Pilcomayo.

Petition from the Central Argentine Railway Company asking that the decree be annulled which orders the rails to be taken up between the Retiro and the old Central Station.

Petition from Messrs. Morton, Rose and Co. presented by their representative Mr. C. H. Sanford, begging that the law of August 1896, referring to the settlement of the foreign debt of Santa Fe, be interpreted according to its wording, which is imperative, not authoritative. In other words, he considers that Congress in that law has issued a peremptory order to the National Executive to hand over to Morton, Rose, and Co., the amount of National 4% Bonds stipulated in that Act. This appeares to be a correct interpretation of the law on the part of the creditors of the Province of Santa Fe, as the sixth clause of the said law exonerates Santa Fé from all liability towards its foreign creditors. This view is confirmed by legal lights here, and the question seems simple enough, and one fails to see what other interpretation can be made of the law, its wording, or its spirit.

The House then proceeded to discuss the modifications introduced by the Deputies in the Bill for according aid to the agriculturists in Santa Fe, Entre Rios, and Cordoba. After some explanations had been given by Senator Anadon the Bill was passed. A Bill was also passed reforming the law relating to the granting of titles to land in National Territory. After which, in the absence of further business, the House rose for the day.

LA PLATA.

(From our own Correspondent)

June 1st.

The Senate met to day, General Arias presiding. Amongst the "asuntos entrados" was a petition from Messrs Bohemes, Baya and Company for a concession for a steam tramway from La Plata to Campana, without any privilege whatever. Senator Matienzo presented a Bill to annul the civic registries in Juarez and Villarino, as the number of names inscribed in them is greater than that of the inhabitants ! The Bill was sent to Committee.

THEATRES AND AMUSEMENTS.

On Friday next, will take place the 100th performance of the present season at the San Martin and will be set apart as a benefit to Miss Eugenie Taylor, who has always worked very hard to ensure the success of the circus, and thoroughly deserves this recognition of her services. The house should be crammed to overflowing on the occasion, as not only is a very special programme being prepared, but everyone entering the theatre will be presented with an album containing the portraits of all the artists who have contributed to the success of the present season. We wish Miss Taylor a bumper benefit.

Last night, Paco Busto, the popular clown, made his re-appearance after a very severe illness and was received with great applause. The pantomime "Un sueño de realidades" is as popular as ever, and the house is always full,

The Columbia Skating Rink is on the full tide of success, and the floor is always covered with devotees of the health-giving pastime. Tuesdays and Fridays are "Noches de Moda" and on these nights there is always a special programme prepared, consisting of races, running at the ring and other pastimes.

The latest novelty at the Comedia "El ayuda de Camara" is a great success and affords a grand opportunity to Sr. Mesa, who keeps the audience in roars of laughter. The piece "Plan de Ataque" has taken a great hold upon the frequenters of the theatre and is performed every night. The programme to-night is especially good, consisting of the two pieces mentioned, "Las Bravias" and "Escuela Musical," the last named especially comical.

To-morrow a new piece by an Argentine author "Amor y Claustro," will be produced, and on Monday next Sr. Royo, the manager of the Company, will take his benefit.

The Gennaro Pantalena Company, which has already appeared with great success at the Politeama and SanM artin, is now located at the Apolo, and the capital exposition of Neapolitan plays always attracts large audiences. A very comical piece "Il Profumo" was given last night, and caused roars of laughter. Sr. Pantalena as Don Peppino is splendidly suited, his little bits of bye-play being remarkably good. Sr. di Mezzo has one of those character parts, in which he absolutely revels, and the two are well supported by Sr. and Sra. Salzo. By general request, the piece will be repeated to-night.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

In spite of the "raising of the rails," which was expected to raise the D—l, yesterday, the river Plate was not set on fire, and the day was a commonplace one in the busy haunts of men, where merchants most do congregrate. In the busy haunts of women, the shops, there were crowds of fair dames and damsels, and some tradesmen must be making fortunes, while others are taking off their hats to the Commercial Judges, pleading for a moritorium. The local news of the day was of the hum-drum order. In Europe the Powers are getting nervous at the fast and loose way in which the Sultan is dallying with the question of peace with Greece. The Military Party is urging the perplexed Father of the Faithful of Islam to continue the war; but his common sense tells him that danger, if not madness, lies that way. Meanwhile the agitation in Athens is calming down; it is reviving in Crete, owing to the attack by the Turks the other day on the Christians there.

For a wonder, the honourable Senators quorumed yesterday and agreed to the vote of the Deputies to buy seed for the distressed farmers.

Professor Lawrence Bruner, who has been engaged as a specialist by the Merchants' Loucust Investigation Committee, to study locust invasions in the Argentine Republic and to suggest the most practical means of repelling them, is expected to arrive in Buenos Ayres to-day. We have much pleasure in bidding him welcome to these shores and greeting him in the name of the commercial community who trust to his knowledge and experience for some expedient to deal with a plague that threatens to nip in the bud our nascent agricultural industry. Professor Bruner comes to this country preceded by letters of warm recommendation from men who figure in the scientific world as the greatest authorities on locusts and agriculture. The letters of Major Aloord to Minister Buchanan are credentials of the highest order, and we are convinced that Professor Bruner will not only find expedients to check the invasions, but he will also show farmers how they can prognosticate the inroad of locusts from season to season, as has been proved in the U. States. The Argentine Government are quite as much interested in his mission in these latitudes as the Merchants' Locust Committee which has brought him to the Plate.

The May number of the North American Review publishes the first of a series of articles from the pen of our brother-editor Mr. M. G. Mulhall on the Progress of the United States. We need not add that this statistical article has called forth much attention in the United States, and coming on the heels of the "Wealth of Nations" and of the "Queen's Reign" (which we are publishing in chapters) proclaims his indefatigable industry. At leisure we shall publish extract, from the North American Review : for the present suffice it to say that his first article deals with the New England States, the heart of the American Union.

We much regret to hear of the death of Mr. Martin Schatter, ripe in years, in Hernandarias. He was wellknown to old stagers, and was directly connected for years with immigration in Entre Rios and Santa Fé. Our colleague Deutsche La Plata Zeitung pays a deserved tribute to his memory.

The window of the music-shop Florida 69 is at present attracting a deal of attention, owing to the exhibition of three very fine oil-painted portraits from the brush of Mr. Hermann Eder, who has already acquired good fame as an artist. Lovers of art should call at the music-shop mentioned.

The U.S.S. Lancaster, Captain Stirling, is in the Outer Roads, and we are sorry that she draws too much water to enter docks. She is a fine old wooden sloop-of-war of about 3000 tons displacement, and was, not long ago, thoroughly overhauled and completely re-armed for use as a gunnery school-ship. Her battery consists entirely of modern quick-fire and machine guns.

We are requested to state that the Sub-Committee for the Children's Circus Entertainment in connection with the commemoration of the 60th anniversary of Queen Victoria's accession, has sent circulars to all the Day Schools and Sunday Schools which they know of, but in case some have been omitted, the Principal or Superintendent will please apply to the Hon. Secretary 352 Perú, and a circular will be sent to them ; further, parents of any children not attending any Day School or Sunday School who may wish their children to be present at the performance on 22nd June, can make application to the Hon. Secretary for Tickets, giving the names of children for whom tickets are required. It is understood that the invitation to the Entertainment, is extended only to children one of whose parents is of British descent.

Our fashionable colleagues are complaining that "La Vida Social" is as dull as ditchwater at present: no private balls or bazaars, "tertulias", or tea-fights, dinners or suppers: nothing but the theatres, from the Opera House to the bottom of the Thespian ladder. Don't fret colleagues. There are lots of rackets in preparation ; and before we don our next summer suit, society at large will be clean sick of them all. Already things are brightening up, as the Minister of the Interior began his receptions last night.

The Committee in charge of the Commemoration of the sixtieth anniversary of Queen Victoria's Accession have arranged with the Directors of Prince George's Hall for a Ball in celebration of the royal event to be given there on the Eighth of July. Nothing could be better. A Jubilee like this without a Ball in the British Hall would not be doing justice to this great occasion, for which so many preparations are being made under the direction of an able and representative Committee. Many of our readers will remember the leap year Ball held on the same date last-year, without doubt the dance in that up-to-date ball room of all gaieties of that winter. The Jubilee Ball will not only eclipse it, but will most probably be one of the finest ever given here. We hear that preparations are already in hand, the Directors of the Hall being resolved to do things on a magnificent scale.

Good idea ! Capital ! Capital ! If it can be done. Mr. Francisco R. Sosa has struck on the happy idea of bringing wine from Mendoza to B. Aires in pipes, just as the great Standard Company distributes oil in the United States. The distance between Mendoza and Buenos Aires is only 1,200 kilometres. It is to be feared that this long pipe would be so frequently "tapped" by thirsty criminals along its route that but little of the wine would reach this city.

Here is a paragraph from our valuable home contemporary the English Mechanic, and we recommend its careful perusal to all the tramway managers of this city. It appears that there are some good things "made in Germany," in spite of shoddy, tin razors, and Hamburg cigars:—"An electric tramcar carrying its motive power in the shape of a battery of accumulators was tried last week at the depot of the London, Deptford and Greenwich Tramway Company. Accumulators of a special pattern are stowed underneath the seats, and supply motive power and the means of illuminating the car. The invention comes from Germany (where it has already undergone satisfactory trials), and is that of Herr Paul Ribbe, of Berlin, its peculiarity consisting chiefly in the nature of the electrodes, and their combination to form an accumulator battery. The system is based on the use of carrying-plates of celluloid including the lead plates, and provided with a number of openings, the edges of which form the supports for the active material in the form of a special paste. A tramway battery constructed on this system consists of 140 cells, of a total weight of some 2¼ tons. This supplies an equivalent of 40 h.p., and is available for a twenty-hours' run without recharging. Great durability is claimed for accumulators of this make, and it is contended that their form of construction enables the plates to stand the great variations of load unavoidable in tramway working. The trials were made with a tramcar brought over from Germany already fitted, but not quite suited to the line on which it was tested. Nevertheless the trials were considered quite satisfactory."

The Raising of the Rails, so long threatened, came off yesterday at the top of the morning. At 5-30, long before dawn, the first train from Ensenada turned up at the Yellow House, and would have gone on to Central but for the Moluna-Pass heroism of Railway Inspector General Schneidewind, who planted himself right in the middle of the track in front of the engine, with a red flag, the danger signal, in his hand. Then Mr. Marengo, manager of the line, came on the scene, and he and Inspector Schneidewind had a friendly chat: then they adjourned to the stationmaster's office, where Mr. Marengo signed and delivered a formal protest against the violation of the Company's rights. That settled the matter, and Messrs. Marengo and Schneidewind adjourned in the most friendly manner to an early breakfast. At the Retiro there was nothing in the protest line. The Minister of the Interior was there, and a crowd of the unwashed filled the station and precincts, as if they expected to see a bloody fight and lots of funerals to follow. As the trains of the three lines from the North came in, there was a deal of confusion in getting the passengers and their luggage out of the trains into their carriages and tramways, but nothing more. It makes one laugh like a horse to think that the Railway Board, or the police, or somebody, was struck with the brilliant idea of taking up two rails opposite Calle Tucuman, lest the engine drivers had orders to rush through the Retiro station full speed to Central. Taking up the rails was a cruel thing to do, as every-body in the train would have been killed at the foot of Calle Tucuman. It would have had a much more brilliant and theatrical effect if a battery of Krupp guns had been stationed there, to receive the charge of the trains with shell and shot. This is what is usually done in Europe on such occasions. However, all's well that ends well, and we won't laugh any more—till the next time.

Dombey (Where's the Son?) is the latest ring on the name of the British Bank swindler by some of our Spanish-printed colleagues, although we doubt if most of them have ever read Dicks. There is little new about the affair. Mr. Justice Gallegos thought he had a fine clue in an advertisement which the Knight of Industry and moral "agriculturist" inserted in the STANDARD, apparently addressed to a girl, but, in reality, we suppose, intended as some warning to his two "pals", as he disappeared next day, and so did his "Uncle Marmaduke", alias McKenzie. The learned Justice sent hot foot to us for a paper with the advertisement, but hasn't got at its hidden meaning yet, we believe Dombey and Son, or rather Dombey and Uncle, are now "far, far away," and we very much doubt if the learned Justice or any other Argentine Judge will ever have the pleasure of trying them for their unprecedented swindle on an innocent and deserving bank. At the same time we give Dr. Gallegos all credit for the energy and acumen he is displaying in the matter. Yesterday, at his instance, Dr. Alcorta telegraphed to New York asking the United States authorities to arrest Danby on the arrival of the Tartar Prince, due there any day—always providing he is on board, which is by no means certain. We much regret to hear that the gentleman, so unceremoniously, and we may almost say unnecessarily, arrested because he happened to be the bank official who cashed the forged cheque, is lying seriously ill in the British Hospital; and we sincerely trust that he may promptly recover.

The $100,000 prize in Monday's Lottery, sold by that wonderfully lucky "agente" Dellepiane, of Calles Cangallo and Piedad, fell to the owner of a music shop and four humble working men in the grapy and earthquaky city of Mendoza, a fifth each. Their circles of friends and long-lost relatives will now widen out like the ripples on a pond when a stone is thrown into it.

Come, come, Samuel, this won't do. Here you are figuring with another earthquake in the morning telegrams. Two earthquakes in less than one week is quite too much even for your great country, which we never have considered as much given to indulging in that sort of thing.

From Washington comes a telegram stating that President McKinley has formed a plan to be pursued by his Government in dealing with the Cuban question, which he will put into operation as soon as Mr. Colhoun, the special United States Commissioner, returns to Washington, where he should arrive the latter part of this week. He will there be appointed to the post of Minister to Madrid and armed with a most important document, to be placed in the hands of the Spanish Foreign Minister as soon as he reaches Spain. In this document, the United States Government will tender its good offices to Spain, in a formal manner, for the purpose of bringing the Cuban revolution to an end in some satisfactory way. This note, which is to be couched in courteous but firm tones, is to be accompanied by another document which will demand reparation for the murder of Dr. Ruiz. The telegram ends with the statement that it is believed in Washington official circles that Spain will decline to accept the good offices of the United States, and that this will lead to a rupture of relations between the two countries.

Mr. Lewis Jones, founder of the Welsh Colony at Chubut, leaves to-night for Montevideo, to catch the New Zealand steamer for England. He expects to be absent about six months. We wish our old and esteemed friend a very pleasant round trip.

We beg to acknowledge receipt of $50 from Mr. Diego Hardy of Juarez, for the widow Molloy, for which we thank him in her name.

The Socialist Deputies in the Italian Chamber of Deputies are a rum lot. Two of them turned newsmen the other day in Rome, and went through the streets selling a Socialist paper the circulation of which had been prohibited by the police. Of course, protected by their Parliamentary immunities, they could not be arrested.

Mackern's Bradshaw for June was handed round yesterday.

Our fellow-countrymen in Montevideo have got together $1,700 gold for the Diamond Jubilee racket. The entertainment part of it will take place in the vestibule of the new Central Railway station.

Our excellent fellow citizens the Dons were prouder and haughtier than ever yesterday over the grateful news that the revolution in the Philippines is finally crushed. Now, why not send the Generals and troops who have crushed it to Cuba to repeat the feat there? Weyler has proved quite as incompetent a commander as Prince Constantine, or worse.

Special Notice.

Here is an attestation from the Professor John Buchanan, West Brighton: "I often prescribe Hunyadi Janos Water and find that all round it is best of the Aperient Waters in the market."

ON 'CHANGE.

Tuesday, June 1st 1897.
Gold Premium

FIRST RING..... 195.20
SECOND RING..... 195.20

The gold market seems to have struck a dead level again with the liquidation over, and though to all appearances the tendency would seem to favor a fall more than a rise, there is scarcely enough of it to cause a bent or form a current. This means dead-water and a minimum of oscillation. In many respects the market now resembles a hulk, water-logged, storm-driven and helpless, a danger to speculation and a hopeless basis for developments, For months back speculators have been losing steadily, buying on a fall and selling on a rise, almost; for the simple reason that the fluctuation has been too insignificant to afford a margin, and they get tired of waiting. The trimmers and on-hangers, however, have done pretty well by taking keen advantage of every tack. It is a paltry business on the whole and perhaps gives even less profit than might be supposed. However, it is the state of things on'Change, and has this to recommend it. that it is fairly stable, thus helping business interests. Not that there is much business doing or that the help is very momentous, but it is at all events preferable to have a quiet, dull market than to be riding in elation on the billow crest in the morning and howling with dismay in the trough at night. It would be more resasuring too to see the houses buying gold and remitting, which would mean low exchange and high gold; but take things on the whole, and it must be confessed that if they are bad, they might well be a deal worse, considering the times. Another matter for satisfaction is that all experiments at interference have proved so futile that the situation will be left severely alone to right itself, which it will do, all the more quickly that it is not hampered by officiousness or trammelled by protection. June, therefore, will be a quiet, dull month—barring unexpected developments.

The total of gold sold at the first hour to-day was only a trifle over the ¾ million, almost taken up entirely by cash and end of month operations. The cash price opened at 295, dropped to 294 ¾, then rallying quickly to 295.30, closed 10 cents lower; for end of month the pass shrank to 80 cents, as was surmised yesterday, when as high as two points was paid, but only to tide over the settlement. For July and further dates there was absolutely no interest. In stocks there was a slump in Spanish Banks that threatened degringolade, but just when the quotation looked like breaking par a reaction set in which put the price back to 112, a difference of no less than 10 points on opening and closing rates. Some Buenos Aires Insurance shares were done at 40 and Banco del Comercio shares at 85. Catalinas kept firm, and a batch of Bag factory shares realized 62, which is also a firm price. In Cedulas the main feature was the movement in National Fs and Gs, which improved to 82 ¾ to 88.30 respectively.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

$ 272,000 cash at 295-294.80-50-295 294 90-295-295.30-20-295--295.30--20-295-295.10-295-295'20- 10--20-30-295.20.

We were not far out of our reckoning in admitting to doubts as to the solidity of the firmness of the exchange market, and these are borne out by the fact that in spite of the rates having left off firm as a rock yesterday, it was quite sufficient that a bank should have entered to take to-day—and that not sweeping either—to find rates snapping. Brokers all round report the market weaker, and if the banks take we shall of a certainty have more gold shipments. We quote:

On London 47 ¾ 13/16d.
On Paris 4.99-99 ¼ fcs.
On Antwerp 5.01 fcs.
On Hamburg 4.06-07 mks.

Discounts shew no change, being quoted at 7 to 7 ½ % paper.

Mr. Carlos S. Villar has invented a new system of preserving carcases of steers and wethers, which consists in injecting a solution of common salt into the animals' arterial system after death. This process of preserving the entire carcase is estimated to be a saving of $10 on every head of cattle slaughtered, as not a single part of it is touched with the knife except of course, a slight gash in the throat. A carcase thus treated keeps perfectly fresh in all its parts and can be exported to foreign markets for sale with the greatest safety. The Italian steamer Perseo took several animals, thus slaughtered and preserved, to Genoa yesterday. Mr. Argerich left in that packet in order to examine the carcases on arrival at Genoa and report fully on the advantages offered by Villar's system.

Dr. Quirno Costa never got such unlimited, unstinted "blessing" non-papal as this morning when the host of daily-bread men from the suburbs had to saunter down from the Retiro heel and toe, and arrived, of course, a quarter of an hour behind their usual time. The city of B. Ayres Tramway Company has come to the rescue with a service to and from, but as yet it is hardly in full swing, and there was only one car for a full Rosario train this morning. Of course this will improve as the Tramway Company takes the measure of requirements, and after all the walk down on a nice sunny morning is no great hardship.

Jan. to April	4,937	20,765	33
May	3,309	16,324	5

Thus it will be seen that in produce the export in May, as compared with April, shews a falling-off in round numbers of say 25 500 tons maize, 1,500 tons linseed, 1,500 tons wheat, 3,500 tons bran, 137 tons turnips, 116 tons wool, 210 tons tallow, 20 tons hair and 3,400 tons jerked beef. Against this there is only to set off 1,004 tons of quebracho. What does shew satisfactorily is the export of live-stock, which during May has almost reached the total of the previous four months. This shows the importance of the trade and the imperious necessity of consulting all the interests pertaining thereto.

Whilst on the topic of our live stock exports it will be remembered that a short time ago in chronicling the fine price of £19, 5s averaged at Deptford by a batch of Argentine steers, we drew attention to the fact that it was the result of the animals having been dishorned and rendered amenable to reason at close quarters. The batch in question was shipped by Messrs. P. and G. Hughes per s.s Kestor for account of Messrs. Hope Bros, the well known estancieros of San Geronimo, averaging 691 kilos in the Darsena and leaving the owners about $52 gold on their estancia, a figure it is needless to add that makes the business a very paying one. The Cattle Exporters and Butcher's advocate of April 8th comments on the shipment as follows:—"By the way, it is worth noting that a consignment of Argentine cattle sold at Deptford this week averaged £19. 5s each. There were 156 in the lot, and every one of them had been dishorned some time before shipment. They carried well on the voyage, and could be handled fearlessly all the time. I am told they were "touched', freely by the buyers at Deptford, and that was one reason why they sold so well. Hitherto the practice has been for buyers to take up a safe position and view South American cattle as cautiously as if they were wild beasts—which they usually are—with a special thirst for the blood of English butchers. The fact that these dehorned cattle made such a good price will no doubt inspire Argentine ranch-owners to humble more of their stock, and break them in to a point of domestication sufficient for the home buyers to feel their quality and condition. This marks a new and important departure in the competition our Canadian exporters have to face from South America."

Mr. Edward Casey has purchased 4000 Lincoln wethers for export at $10 per head.

Mr. Luis Bouson has sold 200 steers at $30 gold each.

An irate German subscriber asks us to calls the attention of the Camara Sindical to the Cimmerian darkness of the hall after 4 o'clock. He avers having worn out a pair of glasses trying to make out his friends in the gloaming, and thinks that the Bolsa can well afford to have the place lighted up, to say 5 o'clock.

The Pacific packet Orellana's departure has been postponed till 6th inst. as will be seen by reference to advertisement of the company's sailings.

Our Southern peripatetic writes us from Las Flores that though there have been some sharp frosts, the weather is very broken and threatening. The last gale did a deal of damage. Lightning struck a barn and made short work of 1500 fanegas of maize, whilst the mortality in animals on the estancias from lightning has been unusually heavy. Mr. Andres Abolino Diaz had his barn set on fire by incendiaries and lost 30 fine rams as well as 1500 fanegas of maize, estimating his loss at $30,000. Part of the English Remount Purchasing Commission is in Las Flores, but not heavily engaged, as it seems that it only takes sound criollo horses from 1.46 to 1.51 centim. and with little white in the colour, so that out of a troop of say 200 offered, barely 10 or 15 pass muster. The Commission's requirement in all runs to 1500 horses for the British troops in South Africa, two classes being selected, for cavalry and mounted infantry, the horses will be shipped by Messrs. Houlder Bros. about end of June, and we understand that up to the present not half the total number required have been purchased, but the Commissioners are of opinion that they will have little difficulty in securing the balance. When the work is done a report on horse-breeding in the Argentine will be laid before the Horse Guards, which if favorable may prove a great opening for the industry in this country.

A new market in Japan and China is fast being developed for California and West Coast flour of the United States. For some months flour has been shipped to those markets in quantities necessitating the grinding of about 28,000,000 bushels of wheat a year.

A few weeks ago we published cuttings from the New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin and commented on what seemed to us to be the altogether too sanguine view expressed therein of the trade prospects here, so we are not at all surprised to find the following item in an issue of the same paper published during the last days of April. "It is said that orders from the Argentine Republic have not been as satisfactory during this month as they were in March. A leading merchant interested in the Argentine trade says that in his opinion the premium on gold has affected commercial transactions, and though it was a few points lower here some days ago, a still greater reduction was expected. The partial loss of the wheat crop has also a tendency to keep merchants from ordering until they can see what the crop prospects are. The experience of past years, he continued, has shown that in our summer time the trade of Argentine is at its best." We are afraid that with the conditions prevailing here, the summer trade will not meet the expectations of our Northern friends, if they are on a par with those previously quoted.

According to the same source of information, there are among us a number of North Americans working up concessions, as the following shows:—"A party identified with the trade in the Argentine Republic has been informed that several Americans who are at present in Buenos Aires are trying to obtain concessions from the Government for improvements involving considerable engineering work in that capital and vicinity. As soon as any definite arrangement is made he will be fully informed. It is to be presumed that these concessions are for works that will tend towards the development of the country. We understand that one of them it in such satisfactory con ition that a prominent Engineer is immediately to leave New York for Buenos Aires."

The Bahia Blanca Customs House Receipts during the month of May last amounted to $45,958 paper.

The balance sheet of the firm of Bartolome and Esteban Borzone and Co., who failed in Rosario, shows according to the syndic appointed by the judge, assets $154,077 and liabilities $472,265, against the following figures presented by the firm last December when they solicited a moratoria: Assets $973.601, liabilities $654,673 %.

From Rosario we hear that the firm of Sagallo sold 18000 bags of Tucuman crushed sugar at $2,85 per 100 ks, part for that market and part for B. Aires.

The firm of D. Barthe and Co., which petitioned for a moratorium, has made satisfactory arrangements with its creditors by which the latter will be paid in full within 90 days.

The commercial Judge Dr. Viale has fixed the 12th inst. for the meeting of creditors of the firm of Altgelt and Co., to resolve if the petition of moratorium shall be granted. This Judge had a busy time of it during May, no less than 20 failures were attended to, and 8 petitions of moratorium were granted.

Our old friend Mr. Lewis Jones, the pioneer and father of the Welsh Colony in Chubut, took leave to-day. He takes the river packet to catch the New Zealand Packet 'Rimutaka' at Montevideo en route for England. Don Luis goes on important business matters which he hopes to put through in 3 or 4 months, so that we may expect to welcome him back with the Spring. 'Bon voyage'.

Gold looked like spurting at the second hour, but never really reached that stage, as before it got to 296 the reaction set in, which led it back to 295.20 when the bell rang out the close. After the hour the price hardened a trifle and left off at 295.40 sellers. There was a fair business done for to-morrow, but next to nothing for dates. In stocks Spanish Banks appreciated to 114, which is a substantial improvement, as we know of the shares having been offered yesterday at 105. The cause of the slump is undoubtedly the apprehension of the bank suffering heavily with the mayoristas failures, and of course it must be admitted that the mayoristas dealt largely with the bank; at same time it should be borne in mind that the Spanish Bank is perfectly sound and does an enormous business, so that such a tremendous drop as 31 points in the stock is quite absurd. The failures may possibly reflect on the next dividend, but they cannot effect in the slightest the stability of the estabishment. National F's and G's keep very buoyant.

The following is a summary of the business effected in stocks and shares at the second ring :—

Poor Chile. It is on the beaten track again. It is to have Free banks and Public works and a Propaganda commission, and a whole heap of things very good in themselves but tremendously costly. Chile has ever been so sound and conservative in its financial views that it is strange to see it now taking to Free Banks, with Argentina as a sorry example of what they lead to. The project is hedged in with safeguards, but the murder will out, and the passing of the bills will mean a nail in the coffin of its financial stability. We have already given the bases of the bills and so shall await their definite presentation to Congress before reopening comment.

The Caja de Conversion burned to-day $97,974 in notes renewed; and £95,630 in small notes exchanged for nickel coins.

HAMPSHIRE DOWN SHEEP.

Splendid mutton, good wool, great weight
This highly valuable
English Breed of Sheep is unrivalled in its rapid and Womderfully Early Maturity,
Possessing, too, a hardiness of Constitution adapted to all climates, whilst in the quality of Mutton and large proportion of Lean
MEAT, IT IS UNSURPASSED.
At the Great Smithfield Club Show in London, December, 1896, Hamphire Downs exceeded any other breed in the number of entries. The Live Weight of the 22 Pens of Wether Lambs exhibited (3 to a pen) averaged no less than 197 lbs per lamb at 10½ months old, and a pen of these lambs stood Reserve for thr Champion Plate for the best Short-woolled Sheep in the Show, against Wethers 21½ months old. A Hampshire Down also took First Prize in the Dead Carcase Competition against all other Short-woolled Breeds.

KEATING'S
LOZENGES.

KEATING'S LOZENGES.
KEATING'S LOZENGES.
"A Simple Fact about" KEATING'S COUGH LOZENGES. Ask through the world, in any country that can be named, you will find them largely sold. There is absolutely no remedy that is so speedy in giving relief, so certain to cure and yet the most delicate can take them.
"A TERRIBLE COUGH."
"A TERRIBLE COUGH."
"94 Commercial Road, Peckham, July 12
"Dear Sir,—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of 'Tracheotomy' (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough it was so bad at times that it quite exhausted me. The mucus, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am, sir, yours truly, J. HILL
UTTERLY UNRIVALLED.
UTTERLY UNRIVALLED.
The above speaks for itself. From strict inquiry it appears that the benefit from using Keating's Cough Lozenges is under stated. The operation was a specially severe one, and was performed by the specialist, Dr. H. I. Butlin, of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. Since the operation the only means of relief is the use of these Lozenges. So successful are they that one affords immediate benefit although from the nature of the case the throat irritation is intense.
WEIGHT IN GOLD.
WEIGHT IN GOLD.
Under date Sept. 8th. 1891, Mr. Hill again writes:—"I should long since have been dead but for your Lozenges—they are worth their weight in gold. I will gladly are and tell anyone what a splendid cough remedy they are."
Keating's Cough Lozenges, the unrivalled remedy for Coughs, Hoarseness, and Throat Troubles, are sold in Tins and Bottles by all Chemists.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's
CHLORODYNE

Original and only Genuine.
Vice Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, and that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13th 1864,
Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne
The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31st 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne
"I was prescribedfor by scores of orthodox practioners. Of course it would not be tous singularly popular did it not "supply" awant and fill a place,"—MedicalTimes, Jan 2th 1866.

SAFETY IN THE TEAPOT

The serious inroads that Dyspepsia has made amongst the community of late years are largely due, the doctors assert, to the indulgence in cheap and inferior teas, in which many harmful elements are contained. Why so many persons should continue to be thus deluded is hard to understand, seeing that there is only the difference of a few cents per pound between the rubbish and the really good teas.

MAZAWATTEE

is the tea that the most eminent Physicians and Professors of Hygiene all cordially unite in certifying to be of the best and purest growth. It is mainly the product of the finest tea producing regions of Ceylon, and contains all the daintiness and beauty of flavor of the delicious Teas of Thirty Years Ago. Mazawattee, indeed, forms in itself a complete answer to all tea-detractors, and those who use it will find that it will mean to them
